

Thank you for looking after the river so we can swim with friends.

Australian's are grateful to the traditional custodians of this land for caring for the earth so that the animals, birds and fish have somewhere to live.

We acknowledge the First Nations people who's land we use for food, water and shelter.

We are grateful for the bush so we can go on bushwalks.

We are thankful everyday for this amazing land that we all call home-Australia.

Australian's from all over our nation acknowledge the sacred land of our indigenous people.

Thank you to our first people for the many years of keeping our land sustainable and safe.

People who call Australia home respect our Aboriginal people, who have sacrificed so much to help us all enjoy our great land.
